AGGRAVATION (RCW 51.32.160)

Last closing order not final

Where a prior closing order was not communicated to the claimant it was improper to construe a further order denying a subsequent application to reopen the claim as an order affirming the order closing the claim. The issues before the Department on an application to reopen the claim are different from those involved when closing the claim. In this case, the Board therefore directed the Department to treat the application to reopen the claim as a protest and to issue a further determinative order concerning the closure of the claim. ....In re Ronald Leibfried, BIIA Dec., 88 2274 (1990) [Editor's Note: The Board's decision was appealed to superior court under Grant County Cause No. 91-2-00015-4. Although this decision correctly determines an application to reopen can be treated as a protest, consider the effect of In re Jorge Perez-Rodriquez, BIIA Dec., 06 18718 (2008) on the effects of the denial of an application to reopen that becomes final when the original closing order was not communicated.]

PROTEST AND REQUEST FOR RECONSIDERATION (RCW 51.52.050)

Application to reopen treated as protest

It is proper to treat an application to reopen a claim as a protest of the order closing the claim where the evidence indicates the last closing order was never communicated to the claimant. In this case, the Board therefore directed the Department to treat the application to reopen the claim as a protest and to issue a further determinative order concerning the closure of the claim. ....In re Ronald Leibfried, BIIA Dec., 88 2274 (1990) [Editor's Note: The Board's decision was appealed to superior court under Grant County Cause No. 91-2-00015-4.]

Scroll down for order.

1 the employer requested the opportunity to present lay witnesses regarding the issue of the
2 communication of the September 14, 1987 order. At no time through the hearing process did the
3 employer object to litigation of the communication issue. Additionally, on January 26, 1990 the
4 Industrial Appeals Judge sent a letter to both counsel, indicating that he had reviewed the transcript
5 and determined that the jurisdictional issue would be resolved by a finding that the order of September
6 14, 1987 was not communicated to the claimant. He gave counsel until February 9, 1990 to respond.
7 There is no indication that counsel for the self-insured employer took any action. The question of
8 whether the September 14, 1987 order was communicated to the claimant is therefore properly before
9 us.
10

12 This is a claim for an industrial injury to claimant's lower back which occurred on May 19, 1987.
13 The Department issued its first closing order on September 14, 1987. That order was mailed to the 14 claimant at an address in Quincy, Washington, where he no longer resided. Mr. Leibfried contends he
15 first learned that his claim was closed when he went to his doctor in February of 1988, seeking further
16 treatment. At that time, the receptionist checked a computer terminal and determined that the claim
17 was closed. Since the claim was closed, he filed an application to reopen. Apparently, it was not until 18 after the litigation had started in this matter, that the closing order of September 14, 1987 was actually
19 communicated to the claimant.
20

22 There is nothing to rebut the claimant's version of what occurred. The self-insured employer
23 had from April 17, 1989, the date Mr. Leibfried testified, until at least February 9, 1990, the date that
24 the Industrial Appeals Judge requested the parties' respective positions regarding his finding on the 25 jurisdictional issue, in order to offer additional information regarding the communication of the order.
26 Since we have no reason to disbelieve Mr. Leibfried's testimony, we conclude that the September 14,
27 1987 order was not communicated to him until sometime after litigation had started in this appeal.
28

29
30 After finding that the September 14, 1987 order had not been communicated to the claimant,
31 our Industrial Appeals Judge construed the claimant's application to reopen for aggravation filed on 32 March 3, 1988 as a timely protest to the Department order of September 14, 1987. He also
33 determined that the Department order of May 11, 1988 constituted an order affirming the September
34 14, 1987 closure order. He then characterized this appeal as a direct appeal from the May 11, 1988
35 "closing" order and remanded the claim for further treatment. We disagree with the Industrial Appeals
36 Judge's analysis that the May 11, 1988 order constitutes an order affirming the September 14, 1987
37 closing order.

1 It is proper to construe the March 3, 1988 application for reopening as a protest to the
2 Department order of September 14, 1987. At the time that application was filed, the claimant was
3 aware of the closing order of September 14, 1987, based only on oral information he received at his
4 attending physician's office in February 1988. It is clear that the application for reopening filed on
5 claimant's behalf on March 3, 1988, was filed in order to notify the Department of his need for 6 continued treatment. The application therefore constituted a timely protest to the Department order of 7 September 14, 1987, which closed the claim.
8
9

11 However, the September 14, 1987 Department order contained language indicating that the 12 Department would issue a further appealable order upon receipt of a protest. The filing of the protest
13 automatically set the September 14, 1987 order aside and held it in abeyance. The Department must
14 investigate further and enter another determinative order. In re Santos Alonzo, BIIA Dec., 56,833
15 (1981).
16
17

18
19 The Industrial Appeals Judge construed the May 11, 1988 Department order as an order
20 issued in response to the protest of March 3, 1988. He interpreted the May 11, 1988 order as 21 adhering to the provisions of the September 14, 1987 closing order. We disagree. In issuing the 22 May 11, 1988 order, the Department adhered to the provisions of a Department order of April 7, 1988,
23 which denied the application to reopen for aggravation of condition. In doing so, the Department
24 determined that there had been no objective worsening of the claimant's condition since the previous
25 order issued by the Department on September 14, 1987. However, because the September 14, 1987
26 order never became final, the aggravation issue was not properly before the Department. Reid v.
27 Dep't of Labor & Indus., 1 Wn.2d 430 (1939). Furthermore, there is a substantial difference between 28 determining the need for further treatment in a claim prior to initial final closure, and determining 29 whether there has been an aggravation of the condition since previous closure, as required by our 30 aggravation statute. It is the former issue, not the latter, which must be decided by the Department.
31 Our jurisdiction is limited to those issues actually determined by the Department. In re Ronald F.
32 Holstrom, BIIA Dec., 70,033 (1986).
33
34

35
36 Since the aggravation issue was not properly before the Department and since the Department
37 has not responded to the issues raised by the claimant's protest of March 3, 1988, we do not have 38 jurisdiction over this appeal. The claim must be remanded to the Department with instructions to 39 consider the March 3, 1988 aggravation application as a timely protest to the Department order of 40 September 14, 1987, and to issue a further determinative order on the issues raised by the protest.

FINDINGS OF FACT

1. On June 8, 1987 the Department of Labor and Industries received an accident report alleging an industrial injury to claimant, Ronald K. Leibfried, while in the course of his employment with Lamb Weston (now AMFAC) on May 19, 1987. On June 16, 1987 the Department issued an order allowing the claim. On September 14, 1987 the Department issued an order terminating time loss compensation as paid through May 25, 1987 and closing the claim without award for permanent partial disability.

On March 3, 1988 an application to reopen the claim for aggravation of condition was received by the Department. On April 7, 1988 the Department issued an order denying the claimant's application to reopen for aggravation of condition. On April 20, 1988 the claimant filed a protest and request for reconsideration of the Department's order of April 7, 1988. On May 11, 1988 the Department issued an order adhering to the provisions of its order of April 7, 1988.

On June 3, 1988 the claimant filed a notice of appeal from the Department's order of May 11, 1988. On June 30, 1988 the Board of Industrial Insurance Appeals issued its order granting the appeal, assigning it Docket No. 88 2274 and ordering that further proceedings be held.

2. On May 19, 1987, while in the course of his employment with Lamb Weston (AMFAC, Inc.), the claimant sustained an industrial injury to his lower back while shoveling potatoes.
3. The order of the Department dated September 14, 1987, which terminated time loss compensation and closed the claim without an award for permanent partial disability, was mailed to the claimant at an address in Quincy, Washington. Claimant no longer resided at that address. The order of September 14, 1987 was not communicated to the claimant until sometime after the claimant filed the application to reopen on March 3, 1988. The claimant was orally advised by his doctor's office in February 1988 that the claim had been closed, which prompted the filing of the reopening application on March 3, 1988, so that he could receive continued treatment.
4. The Department did not consider the protest to the Department order of September 14, 1987, and did not issue a subsequent order addressing issues raised by the protest after reconsideration of said order.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

1. The Board of Industrial Insurance Appeals has jurisdiction over the parties and the subject to this appeal.
2. The March 3, 1988 application to reopen constitutes a timely protest to the Department order of September 14, 1987. This protest automatically set aside and held the September 14, 1987 Department order in abeyance.

1 3. This appeal is dismissed, and the matter remanded to the Department of
2 Labor and Industries to take administrative action expeditiously on the
3 claimant's timely protest and request for reconsideration of the order of 4 September 14, 1987, and to enter a determinative order based on
5 reconsideration of said order.
